

GROUT

Grout, because it is a part of the finish comes in for its fair share of complaints. If however, the user is aware of what its capabilities are, complaints should be kept to a minimum.

WHAT CAN I TELL MY CUSTOMER ABOUT GROUT

There are three basic types: Plus Superior Grout

1. DRYWALL: Grout with fine fillers for fine joints, it is compressible, which means it will squash up when movement occurs in tiling. It is therefore comparatively soft and if it is to be used on floors the addition of Grout Add is advisable. It is best for walls but can be used for wall and floor.
2. SANDED: Coarser fillers for bigger joints is harder than Drywall but could scratch delicate glazes. Will work without Grout Add but is better with. Best for floors but can be used for Wall or Floor.
3. HEAVY SANDED: Coarse fillers for really big joints. (Slate, Quarry Tile etc.) Only for floors.

All grout has to be cured properly to get the best results. You will never hear a complaint about Morgan's grout being different colours as happens regularly with opposition brands. All Morgan grout is colour fast, mildew and mould resistant but Superior Grout kills bacteria stone dead it contains "Cliniclean" a no nonsense bactericide.

There are ancillary products to help grout.

GROUT ADD: Makes the grout harder and more waterproof and is able to withstand shock and vibration better. It enhances the colour, is easier to clean and adheres to tile sides better. It is however, harder to work with and the tiler may charge extra to use it. It is not always suitable for tiles with rough unglazed surfaces or stone and slate.

GROUT SEAL: Will make grout that hasn't been cured properly harder and easier to clean.

Morgan Architectural Superior Grout has everything - It is a Wall and Floor grout that is easy to keep clean. Completely bacteria free. There is no need to use any additive with Flexigrout it's got the lot and surpasses the best made in Australia although it is harder for the Tiler to use.
